

River Monsters: Series 9

Which nightmarish predators were responsible for eating the survivors of a torpedoed WW2 ship? And can a double homicide in a remote jungle lake really be pinned on a giant fish on the wrong side of the world? Returning for his final season of River Monsters, fishing detective Jeremy Wade is once again drawn to dangerous waters as he attempts to solve six extraordinary mysteries of the deep. From monstrous sharks and killer catfish to lethal airborne impalers, the suspect list is as varied and challenging as ever. To reveal the assassins Jeremy must travel to distant volcanic islands, descend to the bottom of the ocean, and fish deeper than he's ever fished before. In a forest as old as the dinosaurs, there's even some unfinished business with an old adversary.