SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

In the heart of Southern Africa's largest desert lies a miracle – the Okavango Delta. One of the most diverse habitats on earth, each year it undergoes an epic transformation as desert is transformed into a water wonderland. For many, the floodwaters are a lifeline. For others, they bring harsh challenges. But for all, life is ruled by the pulsing of Africa's great flood.

EPISODE DESCRIPTIONS

Ep101 First Pulse

Medium Description: 150 Characters or less

As the Okavango awaits the arrival of the great flood, predators exploit every opportunity. And as water swamps the land, their world is transformed with the emergence of new life.

Long Description: 300-450 Characters or less

In the midst of a dry winter, the parched land waits for the arrival of a miracle flood. Cheetahs relish the vast open spaces to chase down their prey and feed their growing families, whilst leopards exploit the hunger of others to launch an audacious ambush. But all this will change. As the great flood rides in on the sand, there's an explosion of new life as the Okavango Delta is transformed into a water wonderland.

Ep 102 A World Reborn

Medium Description: 150 Characters or less

A miracle flood has transformed the Okavango into a vast oasis where underwater predators rule. But as the delta slowly dries, life is transformed once more with changing fortunes for all.

Long Description: 300-450 Characters or less

In the Okavango Delta, the miracle flood is at its peak. Animals that once dominated the land are now constrained to small islands. The lions are no longer king - forced to traverse a land they do not control. But for the cunning and strategic wild dogs, the islands become the perfect hunting grounds. As the water recedes, life is transformed once more. Migrant birds arrive in their millions to breed and one of the greatest feeding frenzies on earth provides opportunity for all. With the delta returning to desert, a great thirst takes hold, but the arrival of the rains brings celebration and relief until the next great flood arrives.
