

THE OKAVANGO – A FLOOD OF LIFE

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS .....1-2

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

SHORT: A great flood arrives in a desert kingdom, transforming a dustbowl into a vast wetland. This breath-taking natural history film is an epic journey through Okavango’s seasons, seen through the eyes of an indigenous River Bushman, and interweaving intimate and spectacular wildlife stories.

MEDIUM: A great flood arrives in a desert kingdom, transforming a dustbowl into a vast wetland.

This breath-taking natural history film is a journey through Okavango’s seasons, seen through the eyes of an indigenous River Bushman. From flood to savage drought, our storyteller guides us through intimate and spectacular wildlife stories.

The presence or absence of water governs the lives of those that call Okavango home. Using the latest filming technology and with unprecedented access from the air, Brad Bestelink and his team at Natural History Film Unit capture dramatic new behaviours and reveal the incredible story of the Okavango like never before.

LONG: A great flood arrives in a desert kingdom, transforming a dustbowl into a vast and lush wetland, in one of the most diverse habitats on earth.

This breath-taking blue-chip natural history film is a journey through Okavango’s seasons, seen through the eyes of an indigenous River Bushman. Our storyteller guides us through the course of Okavango’s flood and into a savage drought, interweaving intimate and spectacular wildlife stories.

The arrival and disappearance of precious water determines the destiny of the millions of animals that call Okavango home. For many, the flood is a lifeline. For others, it brings the greatest challenges. Everyone lives or dies by this epic event. It is the heartbeat of the Kalahari.

Following a single, interconnected miracle of nature, this film captures untold stories and dramatic new behaviours that are found nowhere else on earth. Using the latest filming technology and with unprecedented access from the air, Brad Bestelink and his team at Natural History Film Unit reveal the incredible story of the Okavango like never before. Filmed over a full cycle of seasons, this epic landmark reveals extraordinary relationships – both human and animal – in a land where the presence or absence of water changes everything.